

Energetic Animal Healing with Flower Essences

About a year ago I had the privilege of working with Diane and experiencing the healing power of flower essences first hand.

I share my life with a four-year-old Bernese Mountain Dog named Savannah. Savannah has always been a bit “off” from the get-go at 8 weeks old. Berners are generally low key and very easy going however this girl was giving me a run for my money.

I own a doggie daycare and Savi would prefer to stay in the car rather than play with friends, she would bark at people with her head out the window as we drove by, and she always seemed scared as if she was in constant “flight mode.” I hated it and made me sad for her. So I turned to her breeder, an animal communicator, and then a holistic vet trying different calming supplements etc. Unfortunately, it didn’t work.

I felt like I was out of options until I met Diane. She was confident she could get through to Savi and get to the root of her insecurities. Savi is cautious and she doesn’t trust people, especially if they are new. Diane’s calm and patient demeanor instantly put Savi at ease and Diane was able to break through her walls rather quickly. Diane was able to channel Savi’s past and current issues and with the help of flower essences & Diane’s intuitive ability we had a breakthrough.

Diane’s ability to pair flower essences with her Shamanic Animal Communicative abilities was exactly what Savannah needed. I had a new understanding of Savannah and I was able to work with her knowing exactly where her issues stemmed from. Diane gave me ideas and suggestions along with flower essences to take home and use daily with Savannah. The positive changes I noticed in my girl made me so incredibly happy. We became closer because now I understood her emotional state and why she was so guarded. She is still a work in progress but we are on the right path! I will forever be grateful for Diane and her ability to get through to Savannah.
