

Kaska and I began working with Diane when Kaska was about 6 years old. At the time, my husband and I had more than a dozen racing Siberian Huskies, all of whom lived with us as pets and family members but were also competitive racing sleddogs in the New England area. Kaska was an extremely active young dog with a very high prey drive. Certainly, not very good with small animals of any kind or with tiny children. Due to his high prey drive, he was neutered at about age 4. Sometime after the neuter, he began giving himself terrible lick granulomas on his outer feet. It would happen every year about the same time. Additionally, he was depressed and unhappy. I had pursued all the traditional veterinary methods of dealing with the lick granulomas and so called "anxiousness.". Most of which I would never utilize again and were in fact more harmful than helpful. Our kennel was still growing as we were acquiring more puppies for our sleddog teams. Though neutered, Kaska's prey drive had not diminished much around puppies! I started thinking that perhaps Kaska would be happier and less anxious in a new home. I don't remember exactly how Diane and I connected with my worries over Kaska, but we did!

Diane developed a number of Essences uniquely for Kaska through her spiritual connection with him. She and Kaska would journey together into the spirit world where we learned Kaska's spirit guide was Reindeer Spirit. After each journey I would feel a tremendous warmth in my heart and soul, and often tears of happiness in knowing that Kaska shared adventures with Diane which truly gave him the opportunity to find within himself what he had lost, to become again the confident joyful sleddog he had been before. After each session, his eyes truly had a brightness and sparkle that had not been there for several years . In those journeys with Diane, Kaska was FREE to BE who he was, to let go of whatever had been so troubling to him to cause him to hurt himself physically and spiritually. Kaska and I worked with Diane for 3 to 4 months. I can say with absolute certainty that Diane's work with Kaska is what brought him back to me. He regained his confidence and joy in life and absolutely stopped chewing himself.

I'm so happy to say that today at almost 13 years old, Kaska/Reindeer Spirit is still thrilled and excited to work as a sleddog doing what he was bred to do! In fact his best friends in our kennel are our youngest most active crazy dogs! Kaska also went on to earn his akc Rally Novice title and his AKC Beginner Novice Obedience title. None of this would have been possible without Diane's help.

Kaska and I began working with Diane when Kaska was about 6 years old. At the time, my husband and I had more than a dozen racing Siberian Huskies, all of whom lived with us as pets and family members but were also competitive racing sleddogs in the New England area. Kaska was an extremely active young dog with a very high prey drive. Certainly, not very good with small animals of any kind or with tiny children. Due to his high prey drive, he was neutered at about age 4. Sometime after the neuter, he began giving himself terrible lick granulomas on his outer feet. It would happen every year about the same time. Additionally, he was depressed and unhappy. I had pursued all the traditional veterinary methods of dealing with the lick granulomas and so called "anxiousness.". Most of which I would never utilize again and were in fact more harmful than helpful. Our kennel was still growing as we were acquiring more puppies for our sleddog teams. Though neutered, Kaska's prey drive had not diminished much around puppies! I started thinking that perhaps Kaska would be happier and less anxious in a new home. I don't remember exactly how Diane and I connected with my worries over Kaska, but we did!

Diane developed a number of Essences uniquely for Kaska through her spiritual connection with him. She and Kaska would journey together into the spirit world where we learned Kaska's spirit guide was Reindeer Spirit. After each journey I would feel a tremendous warmth in my heart and soul, and often tears of happiness in knowing that Kaska shared adventures with Diane which truly gave him the opportunity to find within himself what he had lost, to become again the confident joyful sleddog he had been before. After each session, his eyes truly had a brightness and sparkle that had not been there for several years . In those journeys with Diane, Kaska was FREE to BE who he was, to let go of whatever had been so troubling to him to cause him to hurt himself physically and spiritually. Kaska and I worked with Diane for 3 to 4 months. I can say with absolute certainty that Diane's work with Kaska is what brought him back to me. He regained his confidence and joy in life and absolutely stopped chewing himself.

I'm so happy to say that today at almost 13 years old, Kaska/Reindeer Spirit is still thrilled and excited to work as a sleddog doing what he was bred to do! In fact his best friends in our kennel are our youngest most active crazy dogs! Kaska also went on to earn his akc Rally

Novice title and his AKC Beginner Novice Obedience title. None of this would have been possible without Diane's help.

Kaska and I began working with Diane when Kaska was about 6 years old. At the time, my husband and I had more than a dozen racing Siberian Huskies, all of whom lived with us as pets and family members but were also competitive racing sleddogs in the New England area. Kaska was an extremely active young dog with a very high prey drive. Certainly, not very good with small animals of any kind or with tiny children. Due to his high prey drive, he was neutered at about age 4. Sometime after the neuter, he began giving himself terrible lick granulomas on his outer feet. It would happen every year about the same time. Additionally, he was depressed and unhappy. I had pursued all the traditional veterinary methods of dealing with the lick granulomas and so called "anxiousness.". Most of which I would never utilize again and were in fact more harmful than helpful. Our kennel was still growing as we were acquiring more puppies for our sleddog teams. Though neutered, Kaska's prey drive had not diminished much around puppies! I started thinking that perhaps Kaska would be happier and less anxious in a new home. I don't remember exactly how Diane and I connected with my worries over Kaska, but we did!

Diane developed a number of Essences uniquely for Kaska through her spiritual connection with him. She and Kaska would journey together into the spirit world where we learned Kaska's spirit guide was Reindeer Spirit. After each journey I would feel a tremendous warmth in my heart and soul, and often tears of happiness in knowing that Kaska shared adventures with Diane which truly gave him the opportunity to find within himself what he had lost, to become again the confident joyful sleddog he had been before. After each session, his eyes truly had a brightness and sparkle that had not been there for several years. In those journeys with Diane, Kaska was FREE to BE who he was, to let go of whatever had been so troubling to him to cause him to hurt himself physically and spiritually. Kaska and I worked with Diane for 3 to 4 months. I can say with absolute certainty that Diane's work with Kaska is what brought him back to me. He regained his confidence and joy in life and absolutely stopped chewing himself.

I'm so happy to say that today at almost 13 years old, Kaska/Reindeer Spirit is still thrilled and excited to work as a sleddog doing what he was bred to do! In fact his best friends in our kennel are our youngest most active crazy dogs! Kaska also went on to earn his akc Rally Novice title and his AKC Beginner Novice Obedience title. None of this would have been possible without Diane's help.

Kaska and I began working with Diane when Kaska was about 6 years old. At the time, my husband and I had more than a dozen racing Siberian Huskies, all of whom lived with us as pets and family members but were also competitive racing sleddogs in the New England area. Kaska was an extremely active young dog with a very high prey drive. Certainly, not very good with small animals of any kind or with tiny children. Due to his high prey drive, he was neutered at about age 4. Sometime after the neuter, he began giving himself terrible lick granulomas on his outer feet. It would happen every year about the same time. Additionally, he was depressed and unhappy. I had pursued all the traditional veterinary methods of dealing with the lick granulomas and so called "anxiousness.". Most of which I would never utilize again and were in fact more harmful than helpful. Our kennel was still growing as we were acquiring more puppies for our sleddog teams. Though neutered, Kaska's prey drive had not diminished much around puppies! I started thinking that perhaps Kaska would be happier and less anxious in a new home. I don't remember exactly how Diane and I connected with my worries over Kaska, but we did!

Diane developed a number of Essences uniquely for Kaska through her spiritual connection with him. She and Kaska would journey together into the spirit world where we learned Kaska's spirit guide was Reindeer Spirit. After each journey I would feel a tremendous warmth in my heart and soul, and often tears of happiness in knowing that Kaska shared adventures with Diane which truly gave him the opportunity to find within himself what he had lost, to become again the confident joyful sleddog he had been before. After each session, his eyes truly had a brightness and sparkle that had not been there for several years. In those journeys with Diane, Kaska was FREE to BE who he was, to let go of whatever had been so troubling to him to cause him to hurt himself physically and spiritually. Kaska and I worked with Diane for 3 to 4 months. I can say with absolute certainty that Diane's work with Kaska is what brought him back to me. He regained his confidence and joy in life and absolutely stopped chewing himself.

I'm so happy to say that today at almost 13 years old, Kaska/Reindeer Spirit is still thrilled and excited to work as a sleddog doing what he was bred to do! In fact his best friends in our kennel are our youngest most active crazy dogs! Kaska also went on to earn his akc Rally Novice title and his AKC Beginner Novice Obedience title. None of this would have been possible without Diane's help.

Kaska and I began working with Diane when Kaska was about 6 years old. At the time, my husband and I had more than a dozen racing Siberian Huskies, all of whom lived with us as pets and family members but were also competitive racing sleddogs in the New England area. Kaska was an extremely active young dog with a very high prey drive. Certainly, not very good with small animals of any kind or with tiny children. Due to his high prey drive, he was neutered at about age 4. Sometime after the neuter, he began giving himself terrible lick granulomas on his outer feet. It would happen every year about the same time. Additionally, he was depressed and unhappy. I had pursued all the traditional veterinary methods of dealing with the lick granulomas and so called "anxiousness.". Most of which I would never utilize again and were in fact more harmful than helpful. Our kennel was still growing as we were acquiring more puppies for our sleddog teams. Though neutered, Kaska's prey drive had not diminished much around puppies! I started thinking that perhaps Kaska would be happier and less anxious in a new home. I don't remember exactly how Diane and I connected with my worries over Kaska, but we did!

Diane developed a number of Essences uniquely for Kaska through her spiritual connection with him. She and Kaska would journey together into the spirit world where we learned Kaska's spirit guide was Reindeer Spirit. After each journey I would feel a tremendous warmth in my heart and soul, and often tears of happiness in knowing that Kaska shared adventures with Diane which truly gave him the opportunity to find within himself what he had lost, to become again the confident joyful sleddog he had been before. After each session, his eyes truly had a brightness and sparkle that had not been there for several years. In those journeys with Diane, Kaska was FREE to BE who he was, to let go of whatever had been so troubling to him to cause him to hurt himself physically and spiritually. Kaska and I worked with Diane for 3 to 4 months. I can say with absolute certainty that Diane's work with Kaska is what brought him back to me. He regained his confidence and joy in life and absolutely stopped chewing himself.

I'm so happy to say that today at almost 13 years old, Kaska/Reindeer Spirit is still thrilled and excited to work as a sleddog doing what he was bred to do! In fact his best friends in our kennel are our youngest most active crazy dogs! Kaska also went on to earn his akc Rally Novice title and his AKC Beginner Novice Obedience title. None of this would have been possible without Diane's help.

